

Map: Falling glass in downtown Toronto

Published Wednesday, Aug. 17, 2011 3:27PM EDT

Over the past few weeks, glass windows have fallen from several downtown buildings, injuring at least one pedestrian and closing several roads. Reasons for the falling glass are still being investigated. Below, incidents of falling glass in Toronto have been mapped, dating as far back as January 2010. For more information, see the related articles below.